HANetf Named Best ETF Distributor, 2018

ETF Express Recognises Industry Excellence

London, 28 March 2018 – HANetf, Europe's first independent 'white label' UCITS ETF platform, was named "Best ETF Distributor" at the 2018 ETF Express Awards.

Founded by ETF industry veterans and co-CEOs, Nik Bienkowski and Hector McNeil, HANetf lowers the barriers to entry for prospective ETF issuers by providing a fully managed solution including product development, capital markets, sales, marketing and distribution.

Held at the prestigious Reform Club in Pall Mall, the ETF Express Award winners were chosen on the basis of votes cast by investors, managers and industry participants.

Hector McNeil, co-CEO at HANetf, said: "We are honored by the early recognition which HANetf has received from investors and our industry peers. The HANetf proposition is unique in being the only ETF white-label platform to combine the full toolkit asset managers need to launch ETFs with a complete sales and distribution capability. This award recognizes our commitment to combine the best infrastructure with a highly experienced sales team to make it easier, faster and more cost efficient for asset managers to launch and distribute ETFs in Europe."

Bank of New York Mellon, which provides custody, fund administration and transfer agency services to HANetf won "Best ETF Custodian" at the awards ceremony.
